APRIL RECAP

- On April 10, we hosted our favorite event of the year, Virtual Winthrop Day. We welcomed more than 500 future eagles virtually, debuted an all-new walking tour, and helped our newest eagles find their home at Winthrop. Want to relive the day or see the fun things our Eagles did? Go to winthrop.university-tour.com to view recordings of the day and hear from our campus community.
- Winthrop's men's basketball team has a new head coach. Mark Prosser, who previously worked with the team as a former assistant coach, came back home as the seventh head coach.
- The 2021 Showcase of Undergraduate Research and Creative Endeavors, or SOURCE, took place this month. Nearly 200 students presented more than 160 projects during this year's SOURCE, including oral presentations, music performances, lectures and displays of posters across all academic areas.

EAGLE SPOTLIGHT: NYSSA HEMMINGWAY

Why did you choose Winthrop? What made it stand out? Winthrop was the only school that I applied to in South Carolina because when I visited, I fell in love. I was extremely happy to see people who looked like me represented in leadership on campus. Winthrop felt like home the first time I toured. The diversity and inclusivity made me feel so welcomed.

In your opinion, what makes Winthrop "Winthrop"? The community at Winthrop is hard to find or replicate. Everyone really is out for your best interests. I leaned in and engaged with campus life, and it changed myself and my peers. I made lifelong contacts and friends who truly have my back. Winthrop can help anyone grow into an amazing leader and person.

What advice do you have for students considering Winthrop? My advice to students is to try new things, get out of your comfort zone, and take advantage of everything Winthrop has to offer. There are so many options, and you have four years to dive in. No university is perfect, but Winthrop strives to get better for its students constantly. I know Winthrop loves me just as much as I love it.

What has it been like as a Winthrop student amidst the COVID-19 pandemic? I am very excited to come back next semester to start my senior year! I have appreciated still being able to be on campus, with Winthrop enforcing safety. Being able to participate in virtual or in-person events, classes, and meetings makes life much easier. This is not an ideal situation, but Winthrop has made great accommodations.
