Announcements:

Grades for graduate degree candidates due by 3 p.m. Dec. 17.

Commencement is Dec. 18 at 7 p.m. Attendance is encouraged.

The next meeting of the CAS Graduate Faculty Committee is Jan. 30. Curriculum actions must be submitted to the curriculum committee by Jan. 13.

Graduate Director Greg Oakes: The Graduate School has new graduate assistance/graduate associate wage agreement forms available at <http://www.winthrop.edu/graduateschool/forms/>. Also, Oakes said the Graduate School would like for deadlines for graduate scholarships and assistantships/associateships to be set, to be made public, and to be made known to the Graduate School. The deadlines may be determined by program or college but the Graduate School would like for the deadlines to be determined if they do not already exist.

Oakes reviewed informational slides sent to graduate program directors from a talk by Debra W. Stewart at the recent Council of Graduate Schools meeting. The slides may provide ways to think about graduate education programs. These may be shared with faculty and are available for view here. Highlights included an increase in the need for graduate education in the 21st Century; students have expressed concerns about their futures as they near the conclusion of their undergraduate educations and would like more information about what they will do with their degrees if they attend graduate school. Oakes said he anticipated more conversations in the spring as programs move forward.

Oakes announced that Dean DeRochi is soliciting input from graduate programs for items to include in a graduate column; are there students or alumni who might be able to tell stories about what they are doing beyond their Winthrop experiences – i.e., jobs, work, research? In addition, shorter bio-based items about students in programs are also solicited.

No comments from Dean Kedrowski.

Adjournment at 2:13 p.m.
