

The Lena-Miles Wever Todd Emerging Writers Series Presents

Téa Franco

Thursday, Feb. 13, 2025
7:00-8:00 PM

Whitton Auditorium

CULTURAL EVENT

Téa Franco is the author of You Could Be That Kind of Girl, published with Word West Press in 2024. She has fiction published in Barrelhouse Magazine, Barren Magazine, Foglifter Press, and others. She graduated from Winthrop University in 2020 where she studied journalism, political science, and creative writing. She teaches writing at Ivy Tech Community College and teaches creative writing workshops across Indianapolis. Téa is working on her first novel, which received a grant from the Central Indiana Community Foundation to conduct research in Puerto Rico where her family is from.

