Required Readings

Course Description
This course is designed to be an introduction to the interdisciplinary field of Women’s and Gender Studies. Introduction to Women’s and Gender Studies draws on feminist ideas and scholarship to develop historical, theoretical, and cross-cultural frameworks for the comparative study of women and gender. We will examine the category of gender and the subject of women (and men) in terms of their different and changing roles and experiences throughout history and across the world. The course is centered on feminist scholarship about women and their relationships with: systems of oppression and privilege; social and individual identities; the body and body politics; family; contraception, pregnancy, motherhood and fatherhood; productive and reproductive labor; domestic violence, rape, and sexual assault; state, law, and public policy; global perspectives; health and reproductive rights, sexuality and intimacy; art, music, and culture; spirituality and religion; creative expression; and power and empowerment. This course participates in the Global Learning Initiative (GLI) by including essential readings from women and men from around the world and by examining women and women’s issues within a global context.

Women’s and Gender Studies has been conceptualized as an interdisciplinary field to address three biases within academic disciplines: 1. the existing misogyny in much of the treatment of women; 2. the absence of women within disciplinary discourses; and 3. claims of universality within theory and research which were actually based on male experience. This course seeks to offer a critique of such biases by bringing the experiences and perspectives of women into the discourse. In addition, this course is designed to offer feminist reconceptualizations of: 1. basic concepts used within the study of women, gender, and society; 2. existing structures and institutions of power in our society and our world; and 3. visions of what a just world would look like, constructed from the perspective of those who live at the intersections of multiple oppressions. An understanding of how interlocking systems of oppression operate is crucial to working toward their demise.

Course Goals
Students enrolled in this course will gain an understanding of the fundamental concepts in and approaches to the interdisciplinary field of Women’s and Gender Studies and the historical, theoretical, and cross-cultural frameworks for the comparative study of women and gender.

This course contributes to student mastery of the following University Level Competencies (ULCs): Competency 3: Winthrop graduates understand the interconnected nature of the world and the time in which they live. Winthrop University graduates comprehend the historical, social, and global contexts of their disciplines and their lives. They also recognize how their chosen area of study is inextricably linked to other fields. Winthrop graduates collaborate with members of diverse academic, professional, and cultural communities as informed and engaged citizens. Competency 4: Winthrop graduates communicate effectively. Winthrop University graduates communicate in a manner appropriate to the subject, occasion, and audience. They create texts – including but not limited to written, oral, and visual presentations – that convey content effectively. Mindful of their voice and the impact of their communication, Winthrop graduates successfully express and exchange ideas.

Student Learning Outcomes
At the completion of this course, students should be able to answer the following questions: What is the difference between sex and gender? How have women and men had different and changing roles and experiences throughout history and across the world? How have assumptions about gender role stereotypes constrained women and men in society? How have systems of oppression and privilege impacted women’s relationships to: the body; family; contraception, pregnancy, motherhood and fatherhood; productive and reproductive labor; violence; health and reproductive rights, sexuality and intimacy; creative expression; and power and empowerment. What is the relationship between gender, race, class, ethnicity, sexuality, nationality, post-coloniality, age, ability, and culture in the lives of women globally? How do these differences affect the constructions of ‘womanhood’ and the actual experiences of women globally? What have women done in various political, cultural, and economic settings to challenge oppression and create a better world for themselves, their communities, other women, and their families? What is feminism? These are just a few of the questions we will explore throughout this course.

Student Learning Activities and Course Requirements
Discussion is a very important aspect of this course, both for critically comparing and contrasting ideas as well as for interesting, inclusive, and educational dialogue. It is required that you each come prepared to class having read and thought about the material, with a discussion question and/or comment to share. Your willingness to engage and critique the books we will be reading is a fundamental aspect of this course, worth 20% of your grade.
You will be required to write one 5-7 page book review on a classic text in the field of Women’s and Gender Studies (see attached list at the end of the syllabus). ALL PAPERS must be submitted to Turnitin.com by the due date in order to be graded. The Class ID is 11453517 and the Enrollment Password is Women.

In addition, you will be required to write one 5-7 page document review of 6 short readings from Estelle B. Freedman, The Essential Feminist Reader. New York: Modern Library, 2007, and present those readings to the class due the day the readings are assigned. Your paper will be deducted one letter grade for each day it is late. You will also have an in-class essay midterm exam and a cumulative final exam during the scheduled final exam period.

Your Grade Composition will be as follows:
Daily Class Participation in Reading and Discussion 20%
5-7 Page Classic Text Book Review (See List) 20% 5-7 Page Primary Document Review (Sign Up) 20% Mid-Term Exam 20%
Final Exam 20%

The Grade Distribution in this class will be as follows:
A- 90-92 A 93-96 A+ 97-99
B- 80-82 B 83-86 B+ 87-89
C- 70-72 C 73-76 C+ 77-79
D- 60-62 D 63-66 D+ 67-69 F > 60

Grading:
A 93-100 Designates work of superior quality
   A 90-92 = A-
   A- Class participation is voluntary, frequent, relevant, and reflects that you have both read and thought about the material. Performance on exams is consistently strong; demonstrates complete mastery of facts and concepts. Written work is clear, well-organized and thought-provoking, and free of grammatical or mechanical errors.
B 87-89 Designates work of high quality
   B+ 83-86 = B
   B Class participation is voluntary, frequent, and reflects that you are keeping up with the assigned materials. Performance on exams is very strong; demonstrates mastery of facts and concepts. Written work reflects a good understanding of the issues and concepts. Writing is clear with minimal errors.
   80-82 = B-
   80-82 = B-
C 77-79 Designates work that minimally meets the course requirements
   C+ 73-76 = C
   C Class participation is occasional and/or rarely voluntary, with comments that reveal only a superficial grasp of issues and concepts. Performance on exams demonstrates acceptable degree of mastery of facts and concepts. Written work may contain arguments that are confusing, with minimal evidence of organization. Writing is marred by errors.
   70-72 = C-
   70-72 = C-
D 67-69 = Reflects minimal clarity and comprehension D+ Class participation is minimal, never voluntary, and reveals that you have 63-66 = D either not read the assigned materials or did not understand the readings.
   60-62 = D- Performance on exams demonstrates minimal mastery of facts and concepts. Written work is confusing, contradictory, repetitive, and/or not supported by either your own ideas or your sources. Writing is marred by errors.

F 0-59 = F Unsatisfactory performance along most (or all) measures.

The “N” Grade
This semester, the deadline to withdraw from a course with an automatic grade of “N” is Wednesday, March 9. Students may not withdraw from the course after this date without documenting extenuating circumstances to the Registrar.

Both attendance and class participation are important aspects of your grade, not to mention of learning the material. YOU MUST KEEP YOURSELF UP TO DATE WITH THE SYLLABUS. Moreover, the material we will be discussing in this class will touch each of us on a personal and a political level. To be successful in this course it is essential that a student be able and willing to: get out of her or his comfort zone; listen with an open mind; attempt to digest and understand uncomfortable material before reacting; respectfully study, learn, and understand feminist points of view. I am also very approachable. Please feel free to come to me with any questions, comments, or concerns you may have as the class progresses.

Schedule of Class Topics and Reading Assignments: (The need may arise to make changes to this schedule depending upon the development of the class. Any and all changes will be communicated to the class. It is the responsibility of each student to be aware of such changes.)

Student Obligations and Opportunities

Attendance, Class Participation, and Taking Notes

Regular class attendance is required. Excessive absences will lower your grade in two ways:
(1) loss of note-taking from class lecture and discussion; (2) loss of class participation opportunities.
Class participation, which requires your presence, will raise or lower your grade. If prolonged illness or other problems cause you to be absent for an extended period of time, please call me and let me know. In addition, every student is expected to arrive on time. Arriving late or leaving early disrupts the class and is not acceptable. I will make frequent use of the class listserv provided by the Division of Computing and Information Technology, and you are required to subscribe to it. For additional information, go to:
http://www.winthrop.edu/technology/default.aspx?id=7081

Exam Policy: You must take exams on the days they are assigned. If an emergency arises, you must call me and leave a message on my voicemail by the day of the exam and be prepared to document the emergency in writing. I will then assess the possibility of a make-up exam. If this policy is not followed, you will receive a 0 for the exam.

Student Conduct Code: As noted in the Student Conduct Code: “Responsibility for good conduct rests with students as adult individuals.” The policy on student academic misconduct is outlined in the “Student Conduct Code Academic Misconduct Policy” in the online Student Handbook

College of Arts and Sciences Appropriate Use of Technology Policy

Winthrop’s Office of Disability Services (ODS) Winthrop University is dedicated to providing access to education. If you have a disability and need classroom accommodations, please contact Gena Smith, Coordinator, ODS Program Director, at 323-2233, as soon as possible. Once you have your professor notification letter, please notify me so that I am aware of your accommodations early in the semester.

Winthrop's Office of Nationally Competitive Awards (ONCA) identifies and assists highly motivated and talented students to apply for nationally and internationally competitive awards, scholarships, fellowships, and unique opportunities both at home and abroad. ONCA gathers and disseminates award information and deadlines across the campus community, and serves as a resource for students, faculty, and staff throughout the nationally competitive award nomination and application process. ONCA is located in Dinkins 222A. Please fill out an online information form at the bottom of the ONCA webpage www.winthrop.edu/onca and email onca@winthrop.edu for more information.

Winthrop’s Academic Success Center is a free resource for all undergraduate students seeking to perform their best academically. The ASC offers a variety of personalized and structured resources that help students achieve academic excellence, such as tutoring, academic skill development (test taking strategies, time management counseling, and study techniques), group and individual study spaces, and academic coaching. The ASC is located on the first floor of Dinkins, Suite 106. Please contact the ASC at 803-323-3929 or success@winthrop.edu or www.winthrop.edu/success.

Winthrop's Office of Victims Assistance (OVA) provides services to survivors of sexual assault, intimate partner violence, and stalking as well as educational programming to prevent these crimes from occurring. The staff assists all survivors, regardless of when they were victimized, in obtaining counseling, medical care, housing options, legal prosecution, and more. In addition, the OVA helps students access support services for academic problems resulting from victimization. The OVA is located in 204 Crawford and can be reached at (803) 323-2206. In the case of an after-hours emergency, please call Campus Police at (803)323-3333, or the local rape crisis center, Safe Passage, at their 24-hour hotline, (803)329-2800. For more information please visit: http://www.winthrop.edu/victimsassistance/.

Plagiarism: Using the words or ideas of others as one's own is plagiarism. Quoting or paraphrasing material from books or articles without properly citing the source is also plagiarism. All sources used must be properly cited in your papers. Consult your Writing 101 Writing Manual for proper citation techniques.

ASSIGNMENT PREPARATION

Guidelines for Primary Document Analysis

As you read and review the primary documents, keep these things in mind: Identify and provide historical context for the author(s)--who, when, where was it written?; What is the purpose of the document or intent of the author? Who is the intended audience?; How does the author/document make its points? What kinds of arguments/rhetoric are used? How effective are they?; What does the text reveal about the author, feminist history, the period in which it was written?; What questions does it raise for you?; How does the document contribute to your understanding of gender, feminism, and/or intersecting hierarchies?

Guidelines for Book Review

Your book review should be a summary and critical evaluation and assessment of the book you select. Think of it as 3/4 summary and 1/4 critique/reflection. You should cite pages from throughout the book’s entirety so I know that you have read the entire book. If your book is single-authored with 8 or fewer chapters, it is possible to structure your paper with an introduction, conclusion, and one paragraph per chapter. If your book is longer than that or is a multi-authored edited volume with a lot of different authors and sections, then select about 8 chapters or readings from the book’s entirety to focus on. Please select your book from the following list or peruse a book in Dacus from the HQ 1100-1400 section and get my approval. It MUST contain citations!

The Bridge Poem
by Donna Kate Rushin

I've had enough
I'm sick of seeing and touching
Both sides of things
Sick of being the damn bridge for everybody

Nobody
Can talk to anybody
Without me Right?

I explain my mother to my father my father to my little sister
My little sister to my brother my brother to the white feminists
The white feminists to the Black church folks the Black church folks
To the Ex-hippies the ex-hippies to the Black separatists the Black separatists to the artists the artists to my friends' parents...

Then
I've got the explain myself
To everybody

I do more translating
Than the Gawdamn U.N.

Forget it
I'm sick of it

I'm sick of filling in your gaps

Sick of being your insurance against The isolation of your self-imposed limitations
Sick of being the crazy at your holiday dinners
Sick of being the odd one at your Sunday Brunches Sick of being the sole Black friend to 34 individual white people

Find another connection to the rest of the world
Find something else to make you legitimate
Find some other way to be political and hip

I will not be the bridge to your womanhood
Your manhood
Your human-ness

I'm sick of reminding you not to Close off too tight for too long

I'm sick of mediating with your worst self
On behalf you your better selves

I am sick
Of having to remind you
To breathe
Before you suffocate
Your own fool self
Forget it
Stretch or drown
Evolve or die

The bridge I must be
Is the bridge to my own power
I must translate
My own fears
Mediate
My own weaknesses

I must be the bridge to nowhere
But my true self
And then
I will be useful

I Ain’t the Right Kind of Feminist
By Cheryl L. West
I Ain’t the Right Kind of Feminist
First off I’m too confused
Secondly you know my blackness envelops me
Thirdly my articulateness fails me
When the marching feminists come by
I walk with them for awhile
And then I trip over pebbles I didn’t see My sexist heels are probably too high
I’m stuck in the sidewalk cracks

Oh were Oh were has my feminism gone…
Don’t you know it’s chasing after blackness
Somewhere in the white sea

I’m in the movement
No chile
I’m not talking about dancing
I’m in the liberation movement
Yeah I’m talking baout the PLO
Yeah I’m talking about South Africa and apartheid
No I did not say you were fit to be tied

I am a woman
You are a lady
We are sisters in the movement
It’s about neapolitan ice cream
Mixed and oh so sweet
It’s not about white and sterility

Girl what are you talking about
I can have kids
My people have always had kids
No it’s about oppression of all oppressees
But they never come in peace
They just go some different labels
Tell me
Is sisterhood the same as the 60’s brotherhood

Oh where Oh were has my blackness gone
Don’t you know it’s chasing after Ms. Feminism
Somewhere in the white sea

I belong to a consciousness raising group
I have rhetoric
I am a sociologist
I study race, pride, sex, class, humanity
I also make mention of all the “isms”
I am a feminist

Well I am a sister
I am fluid in the dozens
I study us
I study urban renewal

Which includes my bathroom roaches
And my kitchen mice
And the animals down at Public Aid
Tell me about the man that has filled my belly and ten others with babies

Come share with me sister feminist
Let us dance the movement
Let my blackness catch your feminism
Let your oppression peek at mine
After all
I ain’t the right kind of feminist
I’m just woman

Film Documentary: THE F WORD (HQ1421.F2 2007)
Definitions of Feminism from Various Sources: Evaluate and Discuss
Dr. Jennifer Leigh Disney

“Feminism is the principle that women should have political, economic, and social rights equal to those of men and the movement to win such rights” (Webster’s New World Dictionary).

“Feminism asks the world to recognize at long last that women aren’t decorative ornaments, worthy vessels, members of a ‘special interest group;’ they are half of the national population” (Susan Faludi).

“The feminist agenda is…about a socialist, anti-family political movement that encourages women to leave their husbands, kill their children, practice witchcraft, destroy capitalism, and become lesbians” (Pat Robertson).

“Feminism is the political theory and practice to free all women: women of color, working women, poor women, physically challenged women, lesbians, old women, as well as white, economically privileged, heterosexual women” (Barbara Smith).

“I myself have never been able to find out what precisely feminism is: I only know that people call me a feminist whenever I express sentiments that differentiate me from a doormat” (Rebecca West).

“If the feminist movement does not address itself to issues of race, class and imperialism, it cannot be relevant to alleviating the oppression of most of the women of the world” (Cheryl Johnson-Odim).

“Feminism is a method of approaching life and politics, a way of asking questions and searching for answers, rather than a set of political conclusions about the oppression of women” (Nancy Hartsock).

“There is and must be a diversity of feminisms responsive to the different needs and concerns of different women and defined by them for themselves” (Nilufer Catatoy, Caren Grown, Aida Santiago).
