Business Administration*

What is an internship?

An internship is receiving practical training at a company during an academic semester, which you can earn three hours of academic credit for.

Why should I have an Internship?

- Provides a substantive real-world work experience.
- Prepare you for a position in a chosen career path.
- Confirm or re-direct your career goals and expectations.
- Integrate classroom learning (i.e., concepts, principles and theories) with practical work experience.
- Develop network opportunities.
- Understand the culture of an organization (the values, norms, and expectations of a business).

What does a for-credit internship entail?

- An approved job description before starting internship.
- Work a minimum of 150 hours for undergraduates and 200 hours for graduate students.
- Submit time sheets and complete various written assignments to document progress in the internship - there are no in class meetings.
- Keep a learning journal, and write and present a comprehensive paper at the end of the internship or semester.

What are the requirements?

- Have met with your advisor to make sure that you have room on your degree checklist or plan of study and that an internship class is a choice in your major or option.
- Be a junior, senior, or graduate student .
- Meet mandatory GPA requirements (a minimum of 2.5 undergraduate for management, marketing, computer science, entrepreneurship, and economics ; a 2.75 for accounting and finance; and 3.0 for graduate students).
- Have completed the pre-requisite courses in their field of study .
- Have developed a polished resume.

OK, I meet those requirements.

Now what do I do?

Four easy steps:

Acquire a position

Turn in application package

Receive approval from instructor and faculty member

Register for class

Internships

Doing an Internship for Academic Credit

In almost all cases students can receive academic credit for working in an internship. Class credit can be obtained for both paid and non paid internships as well as for local and international internship experiences. All internship classes are worth three credit hours and in many cases count in a major. We also have elective credit opportunities for students whose major or catalog year do not have a place for a major specific internship class. There is a process to enroll in an internship class and this page will walk you through that process. International students interested in an internship must be enrolled in class but should also check with the international office about other parameters surrounding internship for international students.

Attention Health Care Management Students:

The information on this page is not intended for students in the Health Care Management option. Because that option requires an internship, the process is handled differently. Health Care Management majors should contact Dr. Keith Benson (Thurmond 504, ext. 4834) or Dr. Mike Matthews (Thurmond 516, ext. 2463) to discuss how their internship process works.

Let's Recap

Step 1: Meet with your advisor to make sure you have room in your Plan of Study.

Step 2: Find a position.

Step 3: Meet with External Relations – Fill out application package and turn in job description.

Step 4: Upon approval - you can register for the appropriate class.

Step 5: Touch base with instructor, follow the syllabus and turn in required materials to instructor.

Common Questions

Q: When can I take an internship for credit?

A: Anytime! You're able to register for Spring, Summer, or Fall. They can also start mid semester.

Q: When should I start the internship application process?

A: In order to give enough time, the process should start at the end of the semester prior to the semester you plan on having an internship.

For example: Summer internships April

 Fall internships July

 Spring internships December

Q: I am an international student. Can I have an internship?

A: Yes! While every situation is different, many international students are able to partake in an internship. Please note: Internships (CPT) and OPT are not the same. A student is required to be registered for class to participate in an internship. All internships for international students need to be approved by the International Office and a meeting with Exteranl Relations is REQUIRED.

Q: Are internships paid?

A: Some are and some are not. Depending on the internship, an employee may compensate the intern.

Q: Where can I go for help on my resume?

A: The Center for Career and Civic Engagement will be more than happy to help you. Remember to bring a draft! www.winthrop.edu/cce

Q: I am a Healthcare Management major. How do I receive an internship?

A: Healthcare Management majors have different requirements for their internship. All questions about placement and requirements need to be directed to Dr. Matthews. The initial paperwork will be handled by during Dr. Matthew's class in April.

Q: I have a part-time job. Will that count towards an internship?

A: An existing job is not acceptable for this program. However, an internship with an existing or previous employer may be possible if specific substantive changes in responsibilities are made so that the internship becomes a progressive learning experience beyond that gained by previous employment.

Thank you!
