This course requires participation in a pre- and post-semester orientation that follows the school district calendar. Contact the course instructor for specific requirements.

Course Description: Field-based internship in which teacher candidates investigate the learning-teaching context of the internship classroom and individual learner characteristics. The primary focus of the course is on applying core content and classroom experiences from previous semesters to the learners in the internship classroom in order to design significant, challenging, and appropriate unit goals, instruction, and assessments.

Prerequisite: Admission to Teacher Education Program; FERPA Training

Co-Requisite: Program area field-based course

The Education Core

The Winthrop Teacher Education Program is a developmental and clinically-based program that provides teacher candidates with opportunities to construct knowledge and develop skills through course work that is integrally linked to practical experiences in schools. Candidates learn by doing under the tutelage of expert mentor teachers and supportive university instructors and supervisors. The core courses require candidates to learn about and work with learners with diverse backgrounds and needs, including but not limited to, learners with special needs, English language learners, learners identified as gifted, and learners living in poverty. Pedagogical focus is on assessment, classroom management and the learning environment, technology, and professional learning and ethical practice. Together with content area courses, the array of experiences in schools and well-sequenced, coordinated content in the education core provides candidates in all teacher education fields the opportunity to develop the knowledge, skills, and dispositions needed for success as a teacher in 21st century schools.

Description of Clinical Component of this Core Course

Number of hours in school setting: Program Area: Approx. number of hours:

Field-performance expectations: Teacher candidates use the internship setting to collect and analyze contextual information and consider implications for teaching and learning. In collaboration with other school professionals such as the classroom mentor teacher, candidates develop short and long-range plans that meet curriculum goals and standards and reflect the developmental needs of learners.

Supervision of field performance: Mentor teacher and university supervisor

Description of Course in Relation to Education Core

Candidates utilize skills developed throughout the Education Core to gather information through observation, document analysis, and work with learners. Information is used to understand the contextual factors of the internship classroom and construct short and long-range planning strategies learned in EDCO 200 and STAR rotation courses to meet specific learner needs. Experiences from EDCO 305 and EDCO 350 will support candidate construction of an inclusive environment.

Course Requirements

Required and Optional Texts:

- Developing Teachers as Educational Leaders: Responsibilities, Policies, and Practices for the Year-Long Internship (available on-line at <https://www.winthrop.edu/coe/rex/handbooks-and-forms.aspx>)
- Via account (available for purchase on-line or at the Winthrop Bookstore)
- Reading List: not applicable to the field experience
- Initial Teacher Preparation Unit Standards Framework: In initial teacher preparation at Winthrop University, teacher education candidates must demonstrate knowledge, skills, and dispositions that enable them to address the needs of a diverse group of learners. Interns must provide evidence that their teaching results in learning for all students. To this end, interns will reflect on objectives of lessons, develop appropriate lesson plans to address learner needs and analyze their students' work samples to plan for future learning. In addition, interns demonstrate progressing skills in the areas of learning environment, technology, assessment, instruction and learner engagement, literacy, and professional learning and ethical practice. Further information about the Initial Teacher Preparation Unit Standards is available at the following web address: <https://www.winthrop.edu/coe/conceptual-frameworks-and-dispositions.aspx>

Assignments: Please see the internship handbook, Developing Teachers as Educational Leaders: Responsibilities, Policies, and Practices for the Year-Long Internship, to find a description of the intern's responsibilities. Interns should follow all safety protocols and procedures of their host school/district, including the district's technology policies regarding acceptable use and security.

Teacher Candidates in the year-long internship should initially use their content area specific templates when lesson planning. The supervisor and mentor teacher will determine if and/or when a candidate is ready to be released to a modified version of planning that is required by the host school/district. Program area specific templates should always be used when planning for any announced observation (supervisor, mentor, and/or site-based observer).

Lesson plans should be submitted at least two school days prior to teaching (unless otherwise authorized by the mentor teacher and the university supervisor) so plans may be discussed and modified, if needed. If lesson plans are submitted late, the mentor teacher and/or university supervisor may decide not to allow the intern to teach, thus jeopardizing the success of the internship. Lesson plans should be available either in hardcopy or electronically for supervisor and mentor review at all times. If sharing electronically, the intern will share them through Google Drive, Dropbox, OneDrive, or any other options that work for the supervisor and mentor.

The university supervisor will complete, at least, two summative observations of lessons taught by the Internship I teacher candidate (one before midterm and one after midterm), the mentor teacher will complete four formative observations (two before midterm and two after midterm) and a site-based observer will complete two observations (one before midterm and one after midterm). Certain programs may have additional program-specific requirements.

Classroom observations are to be conducted in person if the intern is interning in a face-to-face classroom experience. If supervisors need additional observational data, they may view and evaluate video of lessons taught by the candidate. Midterm and final summative conferences are to be conducted in person.

Pre-observation and post-observation conferences may be conducted in person and/or virtually. Successful completion of EDCO 401 requires achieving the acceptable level on all domains of the Internship I final evaluation.

Grading System: Students are evaluated using Internship 1 Midterm and Final Evaluation Reports. Results are conveyed to students during midterm and final evaluation conferences with the university supervisor and mentor teacher. Copies of the Internship 1 Midterm and Final Evaluation Reports are located on Office of Field and Clinical Experiences website:

<https://www.winthrop.edu/coe/rex/handbooks-and-forms.aspx> . Students receive a grade of Satisfactory (S) or Unsatisfactory (U) for the Internship I experience.

Class Attendance Policy: The attendance policy is described on page 21-22 of the handbook, Teachers as Educational Leaders: Responsibilities, Policies, and Practices for the Year-Long Internship (available on the Office of Field and Clinical Experiences website). We expect teacher candidates not to miss any days from the internship, however, it is understood that extenuating circumstances may arise that prohibit the teacher candidate from participating on scheduled days in the field (example: COVID-19, flu, etc.). In the event of an extenuating circumstance, the teacher candidate communicates with the supervisor, who will decide on a case-by-case basis how the intern will make up the time missed in the field.

COVID-19 Statement:

During this pandemic period each student is expected to act in the best interest of the WU community by behaving responsibly to limit the spread of the COVID-19 virus. All students, faculty, and staff must wear masks inside buildings and classrooms, unless alone in a private office. All members of the campus community must follow campus guidance on masking. Please do not attend class if you have fever or any signs of the COVID virus; do not attend class if your roommate or someone you have close contact with acquires the virus and be respectful of others' desire to remain COVID-free. Students who violate WU guidelines will be asked to comply. Continued failure to comply may result in referral to the Dean of Students Office as a student conduct violation.

COVID-Related Absence:

Students should contact Health Services regarding a positive test, close contact, or enhanced COVID-like symptoms. Any student who has either tested positive, has COVID-like symptoms, or has close contact with someone who has COVID, must contact Health Services. Students should log in to the Patient Portal to schedule a TELEPHONE TRIAGE Appointment w/ COVID as the reason and upload the positive test result if applicable. Health Services will communicate with the student on what steps to take next, and if need be, the Dean of Students Office will get absence verification for required isolation and quarantine. Students who verify their absences through the Dean of Students Office often minimize any academic impact caused by missed class time. Health Services will only provide dates of absence, not medical information. Please note, residential students who test positive should also follow their personal COVID Quarantine and Isolation Plan.

Accessibility Policy: Winthrop University is dedicated to providing equal educational opportunities for all students. Interns with diagnosed disabilities who seek reasonable accommodations must notify the Office of Accessibility at 803/323.3290. Teacher candidates with disabilities should note that the internship may necessitate consideration of worksite accommodations that differ from those used in a typical university classroom setting. Under the Americans with Disabilities Act, reasonable accommodation is a change in the work environment or in the way the job is usually done that enables a person with a disability to perform the job effectively. Interns with disabilities must meet the requirements of the internship experience and exhibit adequate performance. Thus, student interns with disabilities should understand their accommodation needs in relation to the expectations of their teaching internship. Teacher candidates with disabilities who are participating in internship should discuss potential needs and concerns with the Office of Accessibility.

Final Exam Date and Time: The final assessment is the Internship I Final Evaluation Report. The Final Evaluation Report, along with supporting documentation, is due in Via by the course instructor on or before the date set by the Director of the Office of Field and Clinical Experiences. (/)

Student Code of Conduct: As noted in the Student Conduct Code, “Responsibility for good conduct rests with students as adult individuals.” The policy on student academic misconduct is outlined in the Student Conduct Code Academic Misconduct Policy in the Student Handbook online at <https://www.winthrop.edu/uploadedFiles/studentconduct/StudentConductCode.pdf>.

Syllabus Change Policy: The syllabus reflects expectations for the course; however, the instructor may find it necessary to make changes in the syllabus after the course begins. In such cases, students will be notified accordingly.

Tentative Course Calendar: Provided by the individual university supervisor.
