Student Biographies:

JAMES GRAGG is currently an Undergraduate Student at Winthrop where he is receiving his Bachelor's of Music with a concentration in Composition. He is a graduate of River Bluff High School in Lexington, South Carolina. After receiving his degree, James hopes to work in the field of Liturgical Music Publication. He would like to thank Heather Wilcox for being a conducting mentor through his high school years, and of course Dr. Mims for his continually wonderful work both in and outside of the music department at Winthrop.

HARRISON WARNER is a current junior piano performance major. He is a part of Winthrop's Chorale and jazz band here on campus.

EDY YON is a student at Winthrop University where she will receive a Bachelors of the Arts in Music. Upon graduation, she intends to pursue a Masters degree in Choral Conducting. She would like to thank her parents for their constant support and encouragement and Dr. Mims for converting her slowly but surely into a music major, something she swore she would never become.

MAGGIE O'TOOLE is a current 2nd year graduate student studying choral music education. She is a part of Winthrop's Chorale and Delta Omicron here on campus.

PAYTON HUFFMAN is a current 1st year graduate student studying choral music education. He is a part of Winthrop's bands on campus and serves as the Band Graduate Assistant.

MARLEY OWENS is currently a first year Graduate Student at Winthrop University where she will receive a Masters of Music in Choral Conducting. She graduated from Coker University in Hartsville, South Carolina in Spring of 2024. She currently serves as the Choral Graduate Assistant and after graduation she hopes to teach before going back to school to get her D.M.A. She would like to thank Dr. Mims for all of the work he has put in over the course of this year and for being an incredible mentor and professor, and her orange cat Fireball for being the craziest goofball a college kid could ever ask for.
