Academic Freedom and Tenure Committee
Rebecca Evers

- The Academic Freedom and Tenure Committee requested the endorsement of the following statements for the Faculty Manual.

Statement of Academic Freedom:

Institutions of higher education exist for the common good. In the quest for this common good the right of faculty members to academic freedom is of fundamental importance. Academic Freedom empowers faculty to discuss responsibly all relevant matters in the classroom; to explore all avenues of scholarship, research, and creative expression; and to speak or write as private citizens* without institutional discipline or restraint.

*When speaking or writing as private citizens: Members of the academy faculty will adhere to all applicable laws and University policy that mandate any actions taken by employees as private citizens be done on the employees’ personal time and without the use of state or University equipment, supplies, or facilities. Furthermore employees, when acting as private citizens, should clearly state that they are not speaking for the University.
After significant discussion and several amendments, the following statement of academic freedom was endorsed by Faculty Conference:

Proposal to Stagger General Education Recertifications

Currently, Winthrop operates on a schedule of recertifying courses for General Education every five years. That schedule puts an undue strain on both departments and the General Education Committee: the work of recertifying courses all falls at the same time, meaning that the totality of the work must all be done in one year, leaving the other four years relatively empty. Our committee proposes a staggered schedule, as follows:

Year One: 100-level courses (all categories)

Year Two: 200-level courses (Writing and Critical Thinking; Quantitative Skills; Technology; Oral Communication; Logic, Language, Semiotics; Global Perspectives)

Year Three: 200-level courses (Historical Perspectives; Social Science, Humanities and Arts; Natural Science; Constitution Requirement)

Year Four: 300-level courses (all categories)

Year Five: 400-level and 500-level courses (all categories)
We recommend that this schedule begin in the academic year 2012-2013, with 100-level courses up for recertification. Even though the bulk of these courses were recertified in 2009-2010, starting over now with a staggered schedule will lighten and disperse the workload in the years to come.

The motion was approved.

The Faculty Committee on University Priorities met 5 times during the 2010/2011 academic year. We met in an attempt to determine what should consume the committee’s attention this year. It was decided that the committee would attempt to bring more information concerning the Readiness Winthrop initiative to the faculty. We had an orientation meeting with the President, a meeting with the President and Executive Officers to discuss the shape that Readiness Winthrop was taking, a meeting to plan interviews with Deans and Executive Officers regarding Readiness Winthrop so that the committee could produce a report to the faculty, and a follow up meeting with the President and Executive Officers as the contours of Readiness Winthrop became more apparent.

The Committee produced one report regarding how the Deans and Executive officers viewed the impact of the Readiness Winthrop initiative on the faculty and had two meaningful and open dialogues with the President and Executive Officers concerning Readiness Winthrop and the university’s plans for dealing with budgetary strains.

Faithfully submitted,
Scott H. Huffmon, PhD
Chair, Faculty Committee on University Priorities
The Faculty Committee on University Life met on April 12, 2011. At this meeting, the committee discussed the following.

- Two concerns were brought to the committee by a faculty member in the Chemistry/Physics/Geology department.
  - The first had to do with interruptions being caused during class time by campus lawn care workers.
  - The second had to do with environmental concerns resulting from debris pulled into the Sims building. Exhaust hoods are at negative pressure, which means that debris from the outside is pulled into the building whenever a door or window is open.

  The committee has contacted J.P. McKee and is awaiting a response with respect to these two issues.

- A concern regarding the Environmental Safety Office was brought to the attention of the committee. Specifically, there are concerns that this office is under-staffed and that the job is too big for any one person, causing certain duties to be overlooked. A member of the committee will be in touch with Mitzi Stewart for feedback as to what is being neglected, what could be improved, and how extra assistance might allow her office to perform these tasks more effectively. Our committee is researching other comparable institutions of size as to how they deal effectively with environmental safety issues. Once our committee has gathered all the necessary information, we will then decide what course of action to take.

- The committee continues to discuss issues regarding faculty compensation for Independent Study courses and Summer Experiential Learning courses. In both cases, the committee has taken into consideration the following.
  - Compensation varies from department to department, even within one college (for example, Arts and Sciences).
  - It is not clear where the dollars in tuition go when a student enrolls for an independent study course or summer experiential learning course.
  - How faculty might be rewarded for overseeing certain independent study research-intensive projects that might lead to public presentation.
  - How faculty can be rewarded for teaching independent study courses when a student needs a particular course not offered near the time of the student’s graduation.
  - How faculty teaching summer experiential learning courses can be compensated more comparably to those who teach traditional summer courses for the same number of hours credit.

  The committee will be in touch with Tom Moore about these issues and will report back to the faculty our progress at future meetings.

- The committee will host a Brown Bag lunch forum in late September open to all faculty members. This will give faculty a chance to voice concerns they have with respect to university life at Winthrop.

- Our new members for the 2011-2012 year are Elke Schneider (College of Education) and Tracy Griggs (Arts and Sciences). Members of the committee thank Cecile Leung (Arts and Sciences) and Kristi Schoepfer (College of Education) who are rotating off this committee at the end of the academic year.

Respectfully submitted,
Matthew Manwarren, Chair

*Petitions that were denied by the committee, and approved on appeal to the Office of the Vice-President for Academic Affairs.

During the 2009-2010 academic year, the committee began encouraging students who faced academic suspension and dismissal to reflect on the causes of their difficulties and develop an action plan for improving academic performance. That policy has been continued. Many of these students were counseled by Dr. Gloria Jones, Dean of University College, or by Ms. Marilyn Sarow, Assistant to the Vice-President for Academic Affairs. In some cases, the committee readmitted a suspended or dismissed student, with a limitation on the number of credit hours that the student could take in the first semester or summer term following readmission.

Committee Membership: A. J. Angulo, Keith Benson, Laura Glasscock, Shelley Hamill, Carol Marchel, Marguerite Quintelli-Neary, Julian Smith, and Sue Spencer

During the 2010-11 academic year, the committee completed their work on a definition of Academic Freedom for the WU Faculty Manual. On March 11, 2011, Conference voted and accepted an amended definition on 11 March 2011.
