Manage raised hands

Participants can raise their hands any time during your session. They do this to get your attention or ask a question. You can choose to call on them now or close the notification and call on them later.

An image of a hand appears beside participants with their hand raised. Those participants are also brought to the top of their role list in the Participants panel so they aren't forgotten and are easily found.

How it looks in the Participants panel

You can lower hands from the Participants panel . Point to the participant with their hand raised and select the Moderator control button. Select Lower hand.
